FASTPACKING - WHAT IS IT & WHAT DO YOU NEED?

People go fastpacking for any number of reasons - bushwalkers looking for a physical challenge, trail runners looking to explore a little further afield without relying on event aid stations. The great thing about fastpacking is how much ground you can cover once you've got the requisite fitness and gear. So that means all those hikes you've wanted to do but haven't been able to get a week off work to undertake, you can knock over on the next (long) weekend. For the full guide, click/tap here.

JOSH ALEGRE - AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL PARACLIMBING ATHLETE

Despite the hurdles presented by Hereditary Spastic Paraparesis (HSP), Josh discovered adaptive rock climbing, injecting renewed purpose and defying expectations. However, his quality of life has soared, surpassing the expectations of specialists, family, and most importantly, himself. More recently, Josh has been able to combine his love for the outdoors with climbing, finding a new aspect of the sport becoming a motivation alongside indoor competition climbing.
